The Austin Statesman strikes very large nail on the head with a ponderous hammer, when it says that four months trade during the cotton season is not enough to keep up a city and that manufactories are a necessity.

For the first four hours there was not a better speaker in the State, but after that he became a little scattering; was what we were going to say about a recent speech in Waco, but some fool had got off the thing, on the secretary of the Navy, Thompson.

R., nearly destroyed by Fancy Candies, that if published, would startle the people of Texas at the deep and damnable guilt of a plot that in a single hour swept a whole family of beautiful children into eternity.

In the grange hive, all should be workers. Give each young man and young woman some task to perform. The Lecturer need not do all the reading. If he finds something useful in the publications subscribed for by the grange, request the youngest members to read the article selected. This will give them confidence which will be evinced sooner or later by their joining in the general discussion of subjects of interest.—Cincinnati Grange Bulletin.

FROM CALIFORNIA The California State Grange is in

in a reasonably prosperous condition and it has gone quite largely into cooperation, in some cases with the usual failures which are incident to all enterprises, in others, and that the greater number with flattering success. The Granger's Bank is in a prosperous condition, as is also the Granger's Mutual Fire Insurance Co. which shows that large operations can, under able management be conducted successfully by the Grange. The Grangers' Union of San Josquin Valley, has transacted business to the amount of $145,513,69 in the

Brother I. C. Steele, Dear Sir;—
Your favor at hand, and contents noted. Below, find a general statement of our business from the start.

We commenced bus, mess-July 15th, 1874, with a cash capital of $8,222; on the 1st of January 1875, our capital had increased to $20,575, and our profits for the 5-1-2 months were $2,905,12, all of which was carried to the reserve fund.

During the year 1875 the capital paid up, was increased to $50,000 and our profits for that year were $10,784,84 of which $6,000 was paid in dividends being 12 per cent. on the capital stock, only a part of which had been in a full year, the balance of profits, $4,784,44 was carried to the reserve fund.

During the year 1877, our paid up capital was increased to $94,050 and our profits were $13,178,62; we paid a dividend of 12 per cent. amounting to $11,286 and carried the balance to the reserve fund, $1,892.62 which makes our reserve fund, $1,892.62 which makes our reserve fund stand at this time at $23,571.82 and our capital at $94,050.

We have accomplished this in the
